

Appointments are very limited and therefore extremely valuable.

Missed appointments place significant strain on GPs and practice staff and result in longer waiting times for patients. With over 12,000 registered patients and clinicians working varied hours, the patient-to-clinician ratio means that unused appointments have a considerable impact.

Each DNA costing the NHS between £30-£42 on average, the impact quickly adds up.